line. Hats are big and small. The pillbox is in flavor, as are the cloche, the high, winding turban, the floral, the sailor, the derbie, the Gaucho and the brimless.

Colors are especially important in this season's hat offerings. There are heady doses of coral, indigo blue, sharp green and turguois in pale lacquered tones, in both straws and fabrics. Reds vary from pale blushes of pink to deep claret casts. The newly lightened navy is ever-present, and natural straw is toned to golden

Gaffney Tells Why Cost Is Over $10,000

Members of the Outagamie County Board's airport committee decided today a $20,000 price tag on the property acquisition survey for the new county airport is no bargain.

Daniel E. Gaffney, president of Daniel E. Gaffney and Associates, Green Bay, told the committee his original estimate for the costplus contract to conduct the survey was inadequate. The bill he submitted to the committee today was $7,335 for

January work. This brought the total paid so far to Gaffney to about $14,800. He said his bill for the month of February and work yet to be done in March would bring the total to no more than Supv. Al Fischer (Appleton 15th), a member of the committee, said that when the contract with Gaffney was signed early in December, there was an agreement that the cost was not to exceed $10,000. Fischer Objected

"I objected then," Fischer said, on the grounds I hated to sign a blank check to someone. You said the cost would be between $5,000 and $10,000. And you said the survey would be done by the end of February. After hearing Gaffney's explanation why the actual cost would exceed his original estimate, the ommittee decided to pay the January bill. The balance of Gaffney's bill will be arbitrated. Four supervisors on the committee signed the payment statement – Supvs. Mark Catlin Jr. Appleton 7th), chairman; John Dietz (Appleton 13th), Joseph Mc-

State Mills Set Industry-Wide Paper Week

Cite Knowledge Of Operations as Program's Purpose

NEENAH-Paper Mills throughout the state will observe the first industry-wide "Wisconsin Paper Week" May 12 to 18, according to George Mackin, vice president of Green Bay Packaging, Inc.

Plans were formalized during a workshop at New London attended by 30 representatives of most of the pulp and paper mills in the state. The observance will be directed toward more than 40,000 people employed in Wisconsin pa-

The program will vary with each company and may include employee tours, open houses or other company observances at many of the plants, local displays of products, feature stories, and some public presentations of the paper industry story,

"Our decision to sponsor Wis-Wisconsin Rapids, "was motivated largely by a desire to improve pulp and paper industry by employees and the general public."

"Wisconsin's paper industry ranks first in the nation, for example, and we believe it our responsibility to generate such facts to better inform citizens of the state," he said. Participating Firms

Pickle Crop Has 30 Per Cent Produce Drop

Angular Leaf Spot, Cucumber Disease, Seen as Major Cause

MADISON - Wisconsin's pickle crop took about a 30 per cent drop in production last year. A cucumber disease called angular leaf spot caused a big part of the drop, according to Earl Wade, University of Wisconsin plant disease specialist.

Wade doesn't hold angular leaf spot solely responsible. Unfavorable weather conditions undoubtedly played a part. Other diseases such as anthracnose, bacterial wilt, mosaic and damping-off caused some damage. But angular leaf spot is the most widespread and destrictive cucumber disease in Wisconsin right now, says Wade.

Leaf spot infection shows up first on the older leaves as small light brown in color as they enlarge in size -- up to about an drops out leaving a "shot hole." The disease also attacks the fruits especially the older, larger cucumbers.

CHILTON-Food and clothing are favorite projects of Calumet County 4-H Club members, regardless of rural or urban residence. Charles Nikolai, county club agent, noted in his analysis of the local program for the current National 4-H Club Week.

The county has 550 members in 23 clubs. Boys and girls range from 10 to 21 years of age and come from rural, urban and suburban areas. Nikolai said.

Aside from the favorite projects, child care, photography, woodworking and leathercraft are carried and attract members from all areas.

Legislators as Job-Seekers

Almost as if to say that Gov. Reynolds does not yet have enough political trouble. his Democratic friends in the legislature have created for him a tantalizing new dilemma by submitting to him as candidates for a seat on the State Industrial Commission the names of two prominent Democratic politicians in the legislature.

The state senate Democrats a fortnight ago urged the governor to name Sen. Kendziorski of Milwaukee to the $14 000 a year seat that will presumably soon be vacated with the expiration of the term of Reuben G. Knutson, the senior member of that important agency who is a holdover from a Republican administration

Not to be outdone, the assembly Democrats thereupon sent Mr. Reynolds a letter asking him to choose Assemblyman Flannigan of Milwaukee. Manifestly, one of these men will be disappointed when the governor acts, and possibly both. It is a curious additional burden for the governor to bear, when he already has a surfeit of challenging conflict with the Republicans who rule the legislative branch.

These favorites of the Democratic house caucuses are amiable men, and conscientious legislators within the restrictions imposed upon them by their party's ideology. But we would presume to doubt that they have many visible qualifications for sitting on a board that administers some of the most important of the laws involving business and industry labor, public safety, and such huge insurance programs as workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation, involving a total payroll of more than 500 persons.

If the governor chooses one of these two he will be declaring in effect that he is rewarding a political friend, and run the risk of some public disapproval because the two other members of this commission were clearly chosen also for their partisan achievements, rather than their experiences or competence in public administration or relevant business life

Yet these may be unimportant sidelights of the capitol's politics. As we read the temper of the Republican legislative majority as it has been shown in public statements thus far, the state senate is not likely to give the confirmation vote that will be required for the new Democratic governor to seat any of his nominees intended to replace incumbents Mr Knutson and other incumbents in important appointive offices who are nearing the end of their terms may very well remain a while longer as a result

Congratulations to David Hall

Those who have worked with David Hall of Green Bay or have known him personally since his tragic accident can easily agree that he deserves the title of Handicapped American of the Year announced this week from Washington.

Certainly many people must overcome minor or major handicaps to make a living or a contribution to their society or family. Many with no other handicap than indolence never make the grade But the most impressive factor in Hall's success is not that he has managed to overcome to a great degree the severe physical restrictions of his paralysis. It is that he spends a large part of his time in encouraging other handicapped people to realize that they do have a future and that their lives have meaning. Katherine Bulter Hathaway, herself a cripple, emphasized in her book The Little Locksmith that she succeeded not in spite of her physical condition but because of it.

Hall's work with the handicapped is certainly important. But his own example is the greatest inspiration not only for those who must face life with a serious disability but for those who are healthy and physically unimpaired.

Reporters Still Banned by Red China

The vast difference in ideology between Communist and free nations once again is indicated by the conference dragging on between Red Chinese and United States representatives on a possible exchange of newsmen.

While the United States frowns on reporters going to Red China and, according to Elmer Snow who went anyway the State Department tries to dissuade such reporters, it is Red China which keeps them out. Snow was permitted into China under the semantic escape that he was a writer rather than a correspondent. It is difficult to tell, since there is no other American reporting with whom to compare Snows work, whether he is even a little objective or whether his sympathy for the Chinese or possibly their cause badly colored his

The talks, in Warsaw, concern the admittance of Americans to Red China and Red Chinese to the United States. Our government has reaffirmed that it will issue a visa to any bona fide newsman. But China wants us instead to agree to permit entry to a certain number of Chinese reporters without bothering about their antecedents or accreditation.

As far as Americans going to China is concerned, the Peking regime insists that American reporters must support the Red Chinese demand that the US break its treaty with the Republic of China and get its forces out of Taiwan and the straits

The idea of a free press is completely antithetical to a totalitarian government. By the regime's very nature it must consider everyone under its control as working entirely for the betterment and progress of the state. Whether the state is supposed to exist to help the subjects in the long run is beside the point. Newsmen, artists, scientists, farmers, machinists all can do nothing which might in any way affect the control of the bureaucracy This is completely different from the Western concept that the press safeguards the people through its unhampered reporting of everything including tyrannical government. In recent months we are not sure that the Kennedy administration understands this principle but it does still exist. Early in the conferences at Warsaw, the United States refused to permit American reporters to go to Red China because Americans were still held in prison there. The theory was that the U.S. could not ensure the reporters' safety as long as Americans were unjustly held in prison. But we backed down from this rather untenable position and stressed instead that newsmen should be able to report upon the conditions of the prisoners

It would be advantageous for the West to have American reporters in Red China Although their copy would be subject to censorship, as it is from any Communist country, a great deal of needed information about China could come out. And reporters, once they came home again would not have to write according to Chinese restrictions.

But although there are dozens of American newsmen accredited by the State Department ready to go to Red China, there is no sign of a split in the bamboo curtain. We seem no closer to an agreement with Red China than when the talks be-

Living 'Over the Railroad Tracks'

For countless years people have been living and working on one side or the other of the railroad tracks—either on the wrong side or the right side. But what about the people who will now be living and working "over the railroad tracks";

This week Governor Rockefeller will open the $100 million Pan Am building in New York City, built directly over Grand Central Station in mid-Manhattan. It is the largest commercial office building in the world, rising 59 stories above the tracks of the New York Central and New Haven ratiroads, and it typifies similar developments in the works in other cities like Chicago, Atlanta St. Louis and Cleveland

Not only will such buildings make use of 'left over' air space in the core area of large cities, they will bring millions of dollars in new revenues into the sagging coffers of hard pinched railroads. The Pan Am building will pay an annual rental of $1.100 000 to the New York Central, owner of the property on which it is built.

He accepting this money, why bite the hand that feeds you How ceme Mr. Cuff does not hire a local contractor, which is close to him, and which he claims does things so reasonable, instead of having the Outagamie County Highway Dep't men and equipment perform his Soil Conservation work These things do not add up in my book We are willing to spend mil-

hons of dollars for an airport to furnish the best facilities for modern air travel and to keep partial to travel by air Certainly better highways will benefit a greater majority of the people than a new court house addition or a new airport at a mere fraction of cost In fact when the hot mix plant comes up again before the County Board, and should they have to vote for it again, I am sure it will pass by a large majority, the hoard will not deter from their first course of action. just because a few individuals have been chasing all over the county working up public sentiment against it I even look for Supervisors Mr Kloes Mr. Fischer and Mr Catlin to vote Swearing we are told in a for it this time Why not, the British dispatch, will not be hot mix plant will not cost us one dime we just saved two hundred and fifty thousand delfrom Dartford to Purfleet, some lars by hiring the right engineering firm for the airport project so that's enough to buy two hot mix plants but I am sure one will be ample. I told you in the start in this article that our county board had foresight, and they proved it when they voted to put the entrance of the airport to the east, even in the face of Supervisor Cathr's speech that it would cost two hundred and fifty thousand dollars more than a south entrance, this foresight will prevail when the time comes to purchase a not ion forbidden to swear on their mix plant to give us better roads for our tax dollar.

Volkswagens thrive.

Hot and cold don't matter; the VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are, because the service is as good in Tasmania as it is in Toledo.

The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that the Volkswagen people won't sell you one. There's no VW service around the corner.)

We hear that it's possible to buy yourself a Coke at the North Pole, though.

Le Treteau de Paris Tours Started in 1958; Two Plays Slated for March 26

The plan of bringing a French-speaking theatrical troupe to tour American colleges and universities, begun in 1958, was the brainchild of Jean de Rigault, an enthusiastic Frenchman who will bring his Le Treteau de Paris company to the stage of Stansbury Theater in the Lawrence College Music-Drama Center on March 26 at 8:15

The local performance will be sponsored by the language departments of Lawrence College. St. Norbert College and the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Rigault has had educational and theatrical experience on both sides of the Atlantic. He was born in New York City, but is a French citizen. He received his baccalaureate degree from the University of Paris, spent a year at Columbia, another year at Princeton, and received the B.A. from the University of Montreal. Temptation

"If you have a Hungarian for a partner you don't need opponents," says Ivan Erdos, most brilliant of the Hungarian bridge experts who now play in the United States. Like his compatriots he bids more than he can make, but then makes it. Part of the secret is knowing when to resist temptation.

The best way to guard against ruffs is to draw trumps, and Erdos therefore went right after the spades. Naturally he wasn't going to take a finesse; the best way to get trumps out quickly was to cash the ace and then lead a low trump. After all, West might have led from length in diamonds and might be able to defeat the contract by giving East a diamond
